ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

Net Zero Banking is a new phase towards sustainability in the financial industry. Participants of this workshop will be able to reflect on:

- The types of commitments that banks are making
- The challenges banks are facing to achieve commitments
- The actions that banks' clients can take to improve their sustainability footprint with respect to resource consumption and natural capital
- How banks can support clients towards a sustainable banking journey

The workshop is developed by The London Institute of Banking & Finance and is delivered in partnership with ADGM Academy.

Participants will gain the following key takeaways:

-  Explain the strategies and challenges of 'net zero' commitments.
-  Explain how the circular economy relates to bank balance sheet transition.
-  Understand how banks can support businesses in their transition to circular economy.
